The UTeach and Noyce Scholarship programs have received national acclaim – but what do the classrooms of UTeach graduates and Noyce Scholars really look like? We developed a classroom observation protocol called the UTOP to evaluate math and science teaching, and applied this protocol to a national sample of video lessons. This talk will describe the development efforts and study results.